

The Glamour Bar

'ORIGINALLY GLAMOROUS'

Glamorous cocktails, late night grooving, and everything in between (Shanghai, September 2009) It's glamorous and gorgeous ... it's quirky, it's groovy. It's chic and it's comfortable. It's stylish, it's eclectic and it's very sexy, too. It's the Shanghai bar for grown-ups.

The Glamour Bar: One of the hottest bars in the world (according to Conde Nast Traveller)

The bar Conde Nast Traveller named one of the hottest in the world (2007) is a sensuous space that feels like a luxurious salon, glamorous and comfortable, groovy and cultural. A stunning chrome-and-mirror bar, its inspiration a sexy high heel, anchors the room; fabric screens with Chinese landscape images and an inviting hodgepodge of sofas and chairs create a feeling that is both ultra-comfortable and ultra-chic.

And those views! With huge windows lining three walls, the Glamour Bar's views of both modern and historic Shanghai are unparalleled - and absolutely breathtaking!

Cocktails, Champagne and more

The Glamour Bar's highly skilled bartenders serve Shanghai's best martinis, as well as the classics and the latest flings, too. The Glamour Bar is serious about wine, as well, with over 20 labels available by the glass and more than 300 by the bottle – and of course, there is a dazzling display of Champagne.

Our cultural events: music, talks, readings ...

It's a very different Glamour Bar on the weekend afternoons when we hold our "Incidental Weekend" events. Incidental Weekends, so named for their spontaneous nature, are an eclectic collection of almost anything cultural: talks, readings, discussions, performances and concerts with authors, experts, artistes and performers in an intimate space.

And a Literary Festival, too

Every March, the Glamour Bar is the venue for the Shanghai International Literary Festival. It's glorious literary feast, a mix of literary legends, personal favourites, emerging talent and writers on China and Shanghai. Previous attendees include Gore Vidal, Shirley Hazzard, Amy Tan and Pico Iyer, as well as newly minted Booker Prize winners Alan Hollinghurst, Kiran Desai and Anne Enright.

The Glamour Bar: it's stylish, eclectic and always rich and interesting – a true reflection of life in Shanghai.

The Glamour Bar is located on Shanghai's historic riverfront, The Bund, on the sixth floor of the former Nissin Shipping building. It is the sister venue of Shanghai's fine dining institution, M on the Bund, and a sibling to the original M restaurant, M at the Fringe in Hong Kong. Both the restaurant and the bar provide spectacular, one-of-a-kind Bund and Pudong views.
